

Vehicle # VOL 110

1982 Chevrolet Corvette Coupe

This 1982 model was the final year of Chevrolet's iconic third generation "shark" body style Corvette which was first introduced in 1968. GM utilized the proven C3's 1982 design as a test-bed for its most advanced automotive technology that was destined for its next generation 1984 "C4" Corvette which included electronic fuel injection ("Crossfire Injection") and an automatic overdrive transmission enabling the Chevrolet Division to entirely defer a 1983 model.

This fully restored vehicle was originally owned by an Eastman Kodak executive and his wife in Rochester, NY.
