

Service Repair Manual Quick Install Guide

Use these instructions if you have install problems

If having trouble with the install, follow these condensed instructions. The common missed step is running the data setup after data extraction.

1. Insert DVD into drive and the language screen should pop up. Run that setup program which is the stand alone application.

2. Next browse your DVD drive and run D:\SI_DATA\SI_DATA.EXE from your windows start tab at the bottom left of your screen. This will extract the data to your hard drive but you will need to manually change the destination drive to C from D. If you don't change it, you will have error messages immediately. Only change the letter, leave the rest of the destination name. That extraction will take 10-15 minutes.

3. After extraction, you then need to go to your hard drive which is your C drive and look for the SI Data folder you just created. It should be in "program files". Run the setup program in that folder. If not in program files, search your computer for the folder.

4. Open the DVD again and look for SI Data update and run that setup program. Restart your computer and you should be all set. If you have more problems, let me know. I'll make it right

Thanks
